SEC-Required Report on Routing of Customer Orders
For Quarter Ending September 30, 2015

The Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC" or "Commission") Rule 606 (the "Rule") requires all brokerage firms to make publicly available quarterly reports that present a general overview of the Firm's routing of non-directed customer orders in covered equity and option securities. Non-directed orders are orders that customers have not specifically instructed to be routed to a specific destination. For these non-directed orders, Morgan Stanley & Co. LLC ("Morgan Stanley") has selected the execution venue on behalf of its customers. In addition, Morgan Stanley must identify the significant venues to which it routed customer orders for execution during the applicable quarter. To obtain information about the rule, you may access the following web site addresses: <http://www.sec.gov/rules/final/34-43590.htm> and <http://www.sec.gov/interp/legal/mrslb13a.htm>.

The report is divided into four sections: one for securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange and reported as a Network A eligible security; one for securities listed on The Nasdaq Stock Market; one for securities listed on the NYSE MKT or regional exchanges and reported as a Network B eligible security; and one for exchange-listed options. For each section, this report identifies the venues most often selected by Morgan Stanley, sets forth the percentage of various types of orders routed to the venues. In addition, at the end of the report, there is a discussion of the material aspects, if any, of Morgan Stanley's relationship with the venues and General Disclosure section that provides additional information relevant to Morgan Stanley's order routing and handling practices.

General Disclosures

Equities Payment for Order Flow

Morgan Stanley routes customer equity orders to national securities exchanges, alternative trading systems (ATSs), including electronic communications networks (ECNs), and other market centers. Certain market centers offer cash credits for orders that provide liquidity to their books and charge explicit fees for orders that extract liquidity from their books (and certain market centers invert this practice). The amount of credits that Morgan Stanley receives from one or more exchanges and/or ECNs may exceed the amount that Morgan Stanley is charged. Such payments constitute payment for order flow. Morgan Stanley may also receive incremental pricing benefits from exchanges and/or ECNs if certain volume thresholds are met.

Options Payment for Order Flow and Preferencing Arrangements

Morgan Stanley participates in Exchange-sponsored listed options payment for order flow programs and accepts payment for order flow for certain listed options orders. In the course of providing liquidity, Morgan Stanley may preference certain options orders to the Firm's options market maker, or third party market makers for execution.

Ownership Interests

In addition to the ownership interests disclosed in the prior sections, Morgan Stanley or certain affiliates also hold minority stakes in other market centers which stand to appreciate as a result of any profits generated from the execution of customer orders.
