COUNTERPOINT GLOBAL

Investors should note that, relative to the expectations of the Autorité des Marchés Financiers, this UCITS presents disproportionate communication on the consideration of extra-financial criteria in its management.

Performance Review

In the three month period ending 30 September 2025, the Fund's Z shares returned 12.70% (net of fees)¹, while the benchmark returned 10.41%.

The portfolio outperformed its benchmark due to favorable stock selection.

Top contributors QTD include:

- Advertising technology company, AppLovin Corp.
- Quantum computing company, IonQ Inc.
- Videogame platform, Roblox Corp.
- Ecommerce solutions platform, Shopify Inc.
- Web performance and security company, Cloudflare Inc.

Top detractors QTD include:

- Health care services provider, Agilon Health Inc.
- Next generation cybersecurity platform, CrowdStrike Holdings Inc.
- Texas Landowner, LandBridge Co. LLC
- Ecommerce and fintech services platform, MercadoLibre Inc.
- building products distribution company, QXO Inc.

Market Review

Growth Equities, as measured by Russell 3000 Growth Index, advanced quarter to date. Information Technology, Communication Services and Consumer Discretionary led benchmark gains, while Real Estate, Consumer Staples and Financials underperformed the benchmark.

Portfolio Activity

QTD outperformance has been primarily driven by favorable stock selection in Information Technology, Communication Services and Financials.

AppLovin, which is an advertising technology platform primarily focused on mobile gaming advertising and ecommerce advertising, was the top contributor. Its software solutions provide tools for developers to automate and optimize the advertising and monetization of their apps. We believe the company benefits from efficient scale and intellectual property related competitive advantages, and can be a beneficiary of the continued secular growth in mobile applications and ecommerce. Its shares advanced this quarter on strong results that beat consensus estimates, and a healthy outlook reiterating expectations for strong margins and ad revenue growth. Investor enthusiasm and sentiment remained very positive for AI and data-driven advertising companies more generally as well.

Contributor IonQ develops general-purpose quantum computing systems. The company sells access to its quantum computers through cloud platforms, such as Amazon Web Services' (AWS) Amazon Braket, Microsoft's Azure Quantum, and Google's Cloud Marketplace, as well as through its own cloud service. The company's shares outperformed following a series of encouraging announcements, including the U.K. government's approval and subsequent closing of its acquisition of Oxford Ionics, which along with the earlier LightSync acquisition is expected to accelerate its technology roadmap. We remain encouraged by management's execution and believe IonQ is well positioned as a leader in the advancement of quantum computing.

Gaming platform Roblox was also a large contributor. Following a large investment period post covid, the company's recent growth has been resilient and efficient, with free cash flow generation outpacing revenue growth and providing the company with the opportunity to create the YouTube of gaming— a multi sided, social community platform of content creation and consumption. The company's user growth inflected even higher this quarter, reaching forty-five million concurrent users at peak. Roblox's next leg of revenue growth will be driven by advertising, but also expansion from its core mobile distribution channel and into the PC and console channels, where the company has historically been mostly absent, despite those two channels accounting for fifty percent of the total addressable market (TAM). Overall, we remain confident in the company's ability to continue to grow and monetize its ecosystem.

Conversely, stock selection in Industrials and Real Estate, as well as an average sector overweight position in Financials detracted most from relative performance.

Top detractor Agilon Health is a health care services provider, offering its Total Care platform to a network of community-based physicians looking to transition from a traditional fee-for-service reimbursement model toward a value-based care model for their Medicare Advantage patients. We believe Agilon benefits primarily from an efficient scale related competitive advantage and is positioned well as a leading player in a fast-growing and underpenetrated market. The company underperformed following disappointing results and the suspension of full-year guidance amid a CEO transition. Near term, management is focused on improving profitability and cost visibility through better contract economics, expanded incentive-based quality programs, and enhanced data capabilities, while longer term, a more favorable Medicare Advantage rate environment should support the company's efforts. We are closely monitoring the situation as the company works to stabilize performance and execute on its strategic initiatives.

MercadoLibre, a leading ecommerce and payments platform in Latin America, also detracted. We attribute the weakness largely to perceived volatility in Argentina and in competitive efforts from low price focused, APAC based cross border players in Brazil – notably Shopee. The company reported solid revenue growth but somewhat weaker profit growth due to strategic investments the company is making in logistics, marketing campaigns, and free shipping. We believe these are the right long-term investments for the business to be making despite short-term margin pressures as the opportunity for MercadoLibre continues to be robust across LATAM.

Landbridge is a large landowner in the Permian Basin of Texas and New Mexico, generating recurring revenue from a variety of activities across its land. While current revenue is primarily tied to oil and gas production, given the region's position as the leading oil-producing area in the United States, the company is also poised to benefit from increasing diversification into areas such as solar energy and data center developments. We believe the company benefits from efficient scale related competitive advantages and remains well positioned to capitalize on the opportunity to maximize the value of its land, resources, and water. Its shares underperformed during the quarter, reflecting weaker commodity prices and limited merger and acquisition activity.

Strategy and Outlook

Counterpoint Global looks to own a portfolio of unique companies with diverse business drivers, strong competitive advantages and positioning, and healthy secular growth prospects whose market value we believe can increase significantly over the long-term for underlying fundamental reasons, independent of the macro or market environment. We believe having a market outlook can be an anchor. We focus on assessing company prospects over a five year investment horizon. Current portfolio positioning reflects what we believe are the best long-term investment opportunities.
